DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election with traverse of Group II, claims 7-27 in Paper No. 6 is acknowledged. Upon reconsideration, the restriction requirement set forth in the previous Office action is hereby withdrawn and a new restriction requirement follows:

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a universal keyboard, classified in class 400, subclass 489.
- II. Claims 7-24, drawn to a universal keyboard, classified in class 400, subclass 486.
- III. Claims 25-27, drawn to multi-mode universal keyboard, classified in class 400, subclass 476.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility from inventions II and III such as being used to facilitate positioning of typist's fingers with the centrally located large ENTER key. Invention II has separate utility from inventions I and III because the location of the FUNCTION key and the full-function numeric keypad on the keyboard provides easy access to the user when a change in an operational mode of the keyboard is desired. Invention III also has separate utility from inventions I and II because it provides the capability of being selectively used as a QWERTY keyboard or a Dvorak keyboard to suit a typist's particular typing skill. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 2854

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, recognized divergent subject matter, and different search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
